SUPERVISOR'S REPORT.

To the Secretary of the School Committee of the Town of Barkhamsted:

Dear Sir:—

In presenting this, my second annual report of the schools of Barkhamsted, I am inclined to criticise rather than commend. Especially do I feel justified in so doing when I have under consideration the matter of attendance. It is a lamentable fact that, while in some districts there appeared to be an honest effort to keep the children in school, in others there was a marked indifference to this most important feature of school work. The percent of attendance was 83. Out of a possible average of 164.83 you retain 135.35 Your loss in attendance is, therefore, 29.48 and your loss in money is $737. This represents a distinct loss to the town as, under the law this sum would come to you directly from the state treasury. With a view to assist in the work of improving attendance, your supervisor, at the beginning of the school year, distributed attendance blanks. Upon these were written the name of the absentee and the date of absence. They were then sent to the parents with the request that cause of absence be stated thereon and the blanks returned to the teacher. I am of the opinion that this scheme tended in some degree to lessen the cases of non-attendance.

It is refreshing to turn from this gloomy picture to one more pleasing. For the most part Barkhamsted has been fortunate in its teachers. It may not be generally known, but it is none the less true, that it is becoming more and more difficult to secure good teachers for our country schools. This is unfortunate, for it is in these localities to-day, as in the past, that the truest type of that sturdy Americanism that has been such force in all our history is found. Most of the teachers during the past year have worked faithfully, and I have only words of commendation for them as a whole. That some have accomplished less than others was due more to inexperience and lack of co-operation than to any evident desire to slight their work. After all, the co-operation of the parent is one great essential to successful school work. This is especially true in country schools. In the city where the system is so vast and complicated, the parent is farther removed. One can readily understand why this is so. But in the country there should be an honest interest manifested in the working of the school. Better, however, absolute indifference than the unwarranted annoyance to which many young teacher is subjected by the unjust criticism of some disgruntled individual who imagines he has a grievance and seeks a remedy by stirring up dissatisfaction in the community.

The repairs suggested by the supervisor last year were made. The most noteworthy of the improvements was the removal of the school house at South Hollow to a better location. The new school building at Wallens Hill was found to be inadequate, and the supervisor was compelled to suggest that the partition between the main room and the hall be removed. If, however, there should chance to be any material decrease in the number attending the school the coming year and this step should be deemed unnecessary by the committee, the alteration need not be made.

During the past year the supervisor has given a great deal of attention to first grade work. In the matter of a child's education as in many other things, much depends upon the kind of a start that is made. Many of life's failures are the result of a bad beginning. I consider the child's first year in school the most critical period of his school life. He then lays the foundation, whatever he later acquires is builded thereupon. The subject receiving the most attention in this grade was reading. Many hours of the supervisor's time were given to the preparation of reading matter. Many poems were hectographed, and much material for seat work was obtained and distributed. A heavy grade of Manila paper was also procured and cut into sheets 18x24 inches, upon these the teachers printed the words that were learned from day to day. These were preserved and each day a few minutes were given to a word drill to permanently fix the words in the child's mind. Hectograph leaflets were obtained from the state board of education, and, for the other grades a large number of five cent classics were purchased and distributed as supplementary reading. These furnished a fine variety of very profitable reading. Good expression and correct enunciation were insisted upon from the start.

Teachers' meetings were held from time to time. Among the subjects discussed were the following:— The Register. Organization and Clasification. The Plan-Book. The Programme. Methods of Teaching. Seat Work. Some Schoolroom Habits. Languages and Literature. Promotions, etc. These meetings were generally well attended and were, I think, profitable gatherings.

The "Plan-book" was introduced early in the year. The design of this book is to assist the teacher in a systematic arrangement of her work. If properly worked out, this cannot fail to prove of much aid to the teacher. By its use she is enabled at all times to estimate definitely what ground the pupils of any grade should cover, in any study, in a given time.

The "Programme" is another aid to the teacher. By its use both the pupils and the teacher know, not only what class is coming next, but also what the pupils remaining in their seats are doing at the same time. With a well-arranged programme and a definite plan of action, all lessons carefully looked over in advance, the teacher is fortified for whatever may come. The recitation, instead of being an embarrassing exhibition of ignorance and unpreparedness, becomes a delight to all. Right there is the joy of teaching, and the profession would not be the wearisome grind it is today, if this course was persistently followed.

The supervisor regrets that his many duties prevent him from meeting the parents as frequently and intimately as he would wish. He is most desirous to make the acquaintance of the friends and patrons of the schools under his charge. To aid him to do so, and to promote a kindly interest in his work, and in the work of the teachers, he has decided to set aside the afternoon of the last Thursday of each month for a "Visitors' Day". On that day he will visit one or more of the schools of the town, and he will be pleased to meet as many of the parents as possible. Of course it will not be possible to meet all in one day, by this arrangement, but during the year I shall expect to meet a very large percentage of those interested in school affairs.

Several of the schools of the town are small. That at Ratlum and North Hollow especially so. These schools should, and doubtless would be closed out but for the difficulty of procuring transportation. In the case of Ratlum the difficulties are too great to overcome, apparently, but in North Hollow it seems that these children might easily be carried to the Center. At the close of the spring term there were but three children attending this school. The individual cost of educating these children is very large.

The teachers thus far employed are as follows :

Center, Miss Frederick, $8 00; Center Hill, Miss Osborne, $8 00; Washington Hill, Miss Williams, $8 00; South Hollow, Miss Driggs, $8 00; Ratlum, Miss Case, $ ; Riverton, Miss Flynn, $9 00; Pleasant Valley, Miss Porter, $9 00; Wallens Hill, Miss Church, $9 00; Mallory, Miss Lamson, $8 00; North Hollow, Miss Gibbons, $8 00.
